Local Affairs.

In this page we intend to publish the rates of discount, prepared by one of our bankers, list of different arrivals, and the state of the flour and produce market, as well as the latest telegraph despatches.

The paper we issued a few days ago had a little too much margin-this has not quite enough We hope to rectify all defects in subsequent publications.

103 Our Courts are sitting, but the business with which they are engaged is not of a very interesting character. There are cases to be tried in the Criminal Court which will afford material for discussion among outside iurors.

We learn that J. B. Bensel, esq., the mentlemanly Treasurer of the National Theatre, is about to leave our city to enter upon another and a different field of labor-that of Deputy Sheriff of New York city. Mr. B. will take with him the confidence of his numerous friends here on his departure and the best wishes for his future welfare. During the short stay of Mr. B. amongst us, he has, by his uniformly polite and gentlemunly deportment gathered around him a large circle of friends by whom his absent will be regretted.

The acts passed by the Councils relating to the firemen and their spparatus seem to have given offence to some of the compamics. What part of the law is objectionable se tere umble to say, as we bave not seen a copy of it; but we will endeavor to obtain one and lay it before our readers as early as possible.

Our city is well copplied with amusement, and strangers need not suffer with " the blues" for want of it.

The National Theatre is filled nightly with admirers of the Ballet. Alboni met with a good reception on Tuesday night. We hear that the "Infant Drummer" who is still going on "four years old," is in the city, but what kind of houses he delights, or whether he de lights any, we cannot say. In addition to this "array of talent," we have some Fairs going on where those who feel disposed to be charitable sometimes attend and find amuse ment in assisting those who assist the poor.

If you want to get good and desirable dry goods, groceries, clothing, &c./ look over the advertisements in our columns to-day.

We have worked off a large edition of this paper, and shall keep some in reserve Subscribers who do not receive their paper will please let us know, as the routes are new HOME.

Home's not merely four square walls, Though with pictures hung and gilded: Home is where affection calls-Filled with shrines the heart hath builted; lome!-go watch the faithful dove. Salling 'neath the heaven above us: Home is where there's one to love! Home is where there's one to love us! Home's not merely roof and room;

It needs something to endear it; Home is where the heart can blocm Where there's some lip to cheer it; What is home, with none to meet? None to welcome, none to greet us? Home is sweet-and only sweet-Where there's one we love to meet us

HABIT .- "I trust everything, under God," said Lord Brougham, "to habit, upon which in all ages, the law-giver as well as the schoolmaster has mainly placed his reliance; habit, which makes everything easy, and casts all difficulties upon a deviation from a wonted course. Make sobriety a habit, and intemperance will be hateful; make prudence a habit, and reckless profligacy will be as contrary to the child, grown or adult, as the most atrocious crimes are to any of your lordships Give a child the habit of sacredly volve him in distress, and he will just as likely think of rushing into an element in. which he cannot breathe, as of lying, or cheating, or stealing."

Bay It may be wen for some of our then tre and concert-going people to consider how fashionable they are, according to the existing standard of fashion The Home Journal (ever au fait in all matters pertaining to fashion) it may be in est to our lady readers to know, announces that "throwing boqueta up on the stage" is now pronounced not the thing" by those whose example, in such mat ters, is law It has been overdone, not by the public, the editor thinks, but by the professional ovation-stimulators Theu, as tospera-glasses. Mr Willis says. "the time was when the display of one tu our concert rooms was something like in its effect upon the spectators, an order of uobility The time is, when to be without one is a sort of distinction " Then again, as to bonnets and head-dresses, what our oracle says should be heard, and respected by all who are apxious to keep within the my-tic circle of the "exacting goddess" "The time was," we are told, "when all the ladies at a grand concert, or in the boxes of a theatre, were in full dress." The time is, when bonnets are in (on) the majority.

M. T. PARKER, House and Sign Painter and Glazier. DESPECTFULLY informs his friends and the public La generally, that he is prepared to execute work in his profession as punctually and at as reasonable rates as it can be done in Washington. Criers left at his room on Louisiana avenue, between 6th and 7th sis, or at his readenee on C street, tear of his room, will receive prompt attention. Advantages of Advertising

The New York Tribuse thus sets forth the advantages of making one's wants known by advertisements in a newspaper:

"If you want a house, there is no need of running all over the city, incommoding hundreds of families by a long list of questions, or by overrunning their rooms. If you want a house, was a brief description of such a one as you would like, and advertise it. You will not wait long before the house will come to you; and thus you will save time, strength, and annoyance to yourself and others.

"If you have a house to let, a bill at the door may be seen by a hundred persons in a day; an advertisement in the Tribune will be in the same period by a hundred thouand Therefore, advertise; for nine out of ten who want houses search the newspapers

"If you want a servant, advertise just as you would for a house, stating what qualifications you require, etc. Then, instead of hunting through the town, and getting a poor stick at last, you may sit still, and select from those who will call upon you, the very one you wanted.

or journeyman, don't wasder day after day from house to house and shop to shop, but, for the mere trifle charged for such notices, ships Give a child the habit of sacredly respecting the tell the whole world what you can do, and garding truth; of carefully respecting the shere you can be for your days of idle-property of others; of scrupulously abstain-these will soon be numbered. Men don't go ing from all acts of improvidence which, in about hunting up laborers; they look in the papers, and save themselves the time and the rouble of travel.

"If you want board, you need not stop at a hundred doors to be told that they are full, or e imb uncounted stairs to find that the rooms don't suit. Advertise; tell what rooms and prices and location you desire, and the next day open your answers and take choice, of is dozen first-rate places.

"Those who want boarders scarcely need dvice, they have long since ceased to depend upon friendly recommendations and doorpiates, but they might improve in their notices by more particular explanation of their accomnodations, prices. etc.

"If you wish to sell more goods this year than you ever did before, advertise more. The unparaileled success of those merchants and traders who have kept their names and their goods before the people, is a lesson nos to be disregarded by any one who depends upon public patronage for a living. The best customers are those who find out what they want before they leave home, and these are the see where the article is to be found " If you want a steamboat or a poodle dog, a thousand laborers or an errant boy; if you want anything whatever that you do not know just where to find, or do not choose to run after, advertise your wants, and ninety-nine times in a bundled you will be gladly served it your door, far cheaper and better than by any other known process

Thedaily newspaper is the estal listed medium of exchange between mind at d mind in regard to nearly all the wants of hie, and its nsefulness is extending among all classes with surprising rapidity. Everybody reads the tiorning paper from the millionaire over this coffee, to the best best best shed his bottor's boots—and no part of the paper gives so fresh, varied, and comprehenrive pictures of the city and the age as the advertisements "

AXECDOTE OF FINN .- Finn was once a witness for the prosecution m a case before the Common Pleas of Boston, and his testimony was so direct and concusive, that a counse credit him The following dialogue ensued:

"Mr. Finn, you live in street, do you?"

"Yes I do."

Have you lived there a great while?"

"Several years." "Does not a female live there under your protection ?"

"There does." "She is certainly known in the neighbornood by the name of Mrs. Finn."

"Is she your wife?" No: we were never legally married."
"That will do sir. I have nothing more to

sk. "But I have something more to answer sir," replied Mr. Finn, with spirit "The speak with such legity, is my mother—and I have known but one man base enough to breathe aught against her You, sir, can guess who he is. True, she is under my protection. She protected me through my infancy and childhood, and it is but paying a small portion of the debt I owe her, to do as much for her in her old age "

The baffled coursel had not another word to say .- Boston Bee.

A UTIER'S HERB CANDY, FOR A Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, &c.—This invaluable Candy has been prepared to the suggestion of one of our most eminent physicians, and has the extraordinary property of immediately relieving coughs, colds, hourseness, deficulty of breathing, dronchitis, asthma, and haskiness of the throat. It operates by dissolving the congested phlegm, consequently causing a free expectoration.

Those who are troubled with that uspicasant ticking in the throat which deprives them of rest night after night by the incessant cough which it provokes, will, by using this candy ind immediate relief.

This Candy is composed of six single ingredierle, principally of herbs, which are known to be very efficacious in the cure of diseases resulting from colds, and forms of which the day rather network in such as at a would deter many from resorting to them; but when made into candy become palatable without losing any of their valuable medicinal properties.

The subscriber, in presenting this candy to public notic, wishes it to be expressly understood that he does not claim for it any miraculous curing properties, nor does he present it with a long string of certificates of recemendations, although he might do so, as numerous have been tendered him by those who have recived great benefit from its use, but he prefers that the true merits of the Candy should be its own commendation.
